The History of Earth (D7.W2.L1) Homework

Directions: Read the passage three times. Underline one fact about the Triceratops and one fact about Tyrannosaurus Rex.

All About Dinosaurs

Dinosaurs were alive millions of years ago when they ruled the Earth. People who study dinosaurs are called paleontologists. We learn a lot about dinosaurs through the finding of fossils that have been put back together to see how dinosaurs looked.

There were many different kinds of dinosaurs, including Triceratops and Tyrannosaurus Rex, before they all became extinct, or are no longer living.

Triceratops was a dinosaur with three horns on its head. Those three horns were used to protect the triceratops from other dinosaurs, such as the Tyrannosaurus Rex.

The triceratops was also known for its large skull and body. It was a plant eating dinosaur, a herbivore.

The Tyrannosaurus Rex was a huge dinosaur that was known for being very violent. It had only two legs, a huge head and a heavy, long tail. Although the arms of a Tyrannosaurus Rex were small, they were very strong and had two clawed fingers on each hand.

Triceratops had anywhere from 400-800 teeth in their lifetime. Their teeth were constantly replaced with new teeth which is why they ended up having so many.

Once the Tyrannosaurus Rex turned 14 years old, its body grew at a very quick pace, gaining over 1,000 pounds each year.
